

Mr. EVERTS being boomed for the New York Senatorship.

The bill to establish a Department of Agriculture has passed the House.

The two houses of Congress have agreed to adjourn on Saturday until January 5th.

The charters of seven hundred and twenty-one national banks will expire during the coming year.

The headquarters of the Kentucky Whisky Exporting Committee will be moved January 1st from Lexington to Cynthiana.

The East Kentucky News, printed at Caleftsbury, has suspended publication. It was removed to that place a few months ago from Grayson, Carter County.

The new Nicaraguan treaty that empowers the United States to build a $60,000,000 canal is said to be in contradiction of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, as interpreted by Great Britain.

The House will on January 16th, consider the McPherson bill, to issue to national banking associations circulating notes up to the amount of the par value of bonds deposited for security.

Mr. CARLISLE, in his recent speech at the ratification meeting in Baltimore, said: "The business interest can best be forwarded by being left alone as far as possible from Government interference."

BLAINE's little suit against the Indianapolis Sentinel has been dismissed by the plaintiff for the reason that he does not believe he can get justice in Indiana. In a letter to his attorneys he says he would have to contend against "the consolidated venom of the Democratic party." The case has ended precisely as was predicted.

The vote was a party one, thirty-five Republicans voting for the bill and twenty-eight Democrats against it. It is considered very certain that the bill will fail to pass the House.

One century ago sixty unprejudiced Methodists preachers sat upon still benches in a little meeting house in Baltimore, and organized a church. Last week 600 delegates, representing 4,000,000 members of that church, are welcomed to that city's hospitality. It is a marvelous growth that the century has witnessed and foreshadows a magnificent increase in the great future of the church.

Irishman, a few thousand dollars wants to get rich, let him invest in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. There, hidden in the wilderness, is an untold wealth of timber, coal, iron and minerals of all kinds. Northern capitalists seem to be more keenly sensible of Kentucky's natural advantages than Kentuckians are themselves. There is no reason why the mines and mountains of Kentucky should not teem with industry like the mountains of Ireland.

Tried 'Em All.

(Washington co., New York.) A distinguished ex-Confederate officer, now a resident of Washington, used to drink a great deal of whisky, and, you know, he reformed and is now a sober business man. He married the other day a prominent society lady who is a devout Roman Catholic. The groom in his marriage suit said to one of his club friends: "I have tried rum and rebellion, I am now going in for Roman."

Health Rules For Winter.

[Farm and Fireside.] Never leap with the back upon anything that is cold.

Never take a journey until the break fast has been eaten.

Never take warm drinks and then immediately go out in the cold air.

Keep the room especially clean the day after a cold spell; also the chink well protected.

In sleeping in a cold room extinguish the habit of breathing through the nose, and never with the mouth open.

Never try to be well with cold or damp tea.

Never omit regular bathing, for unless the skin is in active condition the cold will close the pores and favor congestion or other diseases.

After exercise of any kind never ride in a carriage, or near the window of a car for a moment; it is dangerous to heat after it has become warm. To do otherwise is debilitating.

When horse, speak as little as possible until the horselessness is recovered from, except when necessary, for permission to do so will be given.

Merely warm the back by a fire, and never continue keeping the back exposed to heat after it has become warm. To do otherwise is debilitating.

When going from a warm atmosphere into a cold one, always take a moist cloth so that the air may be warmed by its passage through the nose or it reaches the lungs.

Never stand still in cold weather, especially after having taken a slight degree of exercise, and always avoid standing on ice or snow, or where the person is exposed to cold wind.

No Water for Eleven Days.

The shipwrecked crew of the British Bark Benefactress were adrift in an open boat, supporting life on some of the bits of dry bread and a few apples. This was slim fare and reduced them to a state of great feebleness. But Brown's Iron Bitts bring enfeebled folks up rapidly, even from such depths as this. It enriches the blood, tones the system and gives healthful strength. Mr. William Hardie, of Ennis, Texas, writes that he had dyspepsia in its worst form, but was restored by Brown's Iron Bitts.

TO say that the twelve young ladies who participated in the broad drill, given last night for the benefit of the Southern Presbyterian Church, was a success is paying them rather a mild compliment. They came down the stairs musing time to the tap of the drum with military precision, and after a constant drill of nearly an hour, going through many of the most difficult evolutions, displaying perfect military skill, they were commanded to break ranks. The drilling throughout could not have been exceeded. If one deserves especial mention all do. We can only say that one and all deserve credit for the enjoyable entertainment. To Captain Fitzgerald for his untiring efforts are due an armful of thanks. At the conclusion of the drill the brooms were offered at auction and commanded the following prices: Miss Bessie Johnson, $1.50; Miss May Morgan, $3.25; Miss Campbell, $1; Miss Bessie D. Phister, $1; Miss Katie Blatterman, $2. A number of fancy articles were raffled off at the same time.

THE new steamer Big Sandy cost $65,000, and is said to be the most complete boat ever built for the upper Ohio trade. The hull is two hundred and eighty feet long with forty-five feet beam, with six feet depth of hold in the clear. She has for six fixed boilers and is provided with electric lights for signals and to light the lower deck. The cabin contains fifty-four state rooms and accommodations for one hundred and fifty passengers. The rooms are large and contain double berths and are handsomely furnished. The cabin is lighted by seven gold chandeliers, with six colored globes, each, which give a pleasing effect. The state room doors are in mahogany, the rest of the cabin being plain white, varied only by three small tips on the brackets overhead and at the top of the columns between the bulkheads. The office is forward of the main hall and is very large and roomy and contains in walnut and cherry. The cook house and pantry are on the larboard side and contain every new convenience, including silver coffee and tea urns in the pantry, constantly under the eye of the steward. The tableware is of solid silver and of handsome pattern. The bar, wash-room, barber shop and gentleman's closets are on the starboard. The bar was built and fitted up by its owner, Colonel Gus Simmonson, and is the handsomest on the river. The Texas is roomy and handsomely fitted up for the accommodation of the officers. The Big Sandy will be offered as follows: Master, William Kirker; clerk, James Wirthlin; second clerk, Mae Anew; third clerk, Alex Pangs; pilot, Ed. Williamson and Eph Talbot; engineers, H. Tyler and Burt Smith; mate, Kirker; second mate, Dan Jammert; carpenter, Adolph Wade; steward, Wm. Davidson; second steward, Sam Neal; chambermaid, Mary Nelson; barkeeper, John James.

PERSONALS.

W. L. Fitch was a guest of the European Hotel last night.

Judge Cole stopped in Maysville last night on his way home from the Lewis Circuit Court.

Tom Conway, of Lewis County, arrived on the steamer Andy Baum last night with several guests for Castle Fitzgerald. Mr. Henry McClanahan, of the steamer Buckeye State, is in the city. His boat will run in the Cincinnati and Memphis trade again this season.

Hal. W. Dimmitt, Esq., son of Dr. E. C. Dimmitt, of Gormantown, Ky., returned home last night for the holidays. Mr. Dimmitt has been attending lectures at the Ohio Medical College, Cincinnati.

SCHOOL NOTES.

DISTRICT NO. 27—DRISKILL OR OSBURN.

This school house is located on the Mayville and Dover pike, at the top of the hill, as we come up from Dover. The house is aged and unpainted, and greatly in need of furniture. The children were seated together in their seats, which were very difficult.

The census report shows a population of eighty-one, the roll fifty-nine, and thirty-seven were found in attendance. Robert Oshurne, "Bit" Pickett and Fred Swigert are trustees.

Mr. Osborne, teacher, and Mr. and Mrs. John Cliff Oshurne, his wife, are at the school. Miss Jocova Bacon is teaching her fourth section here. She takes an educational journal and spares no labor in her school work.

But I can't help but say that the great advantage which might have been removed by properly furnishing the house, Miss Bacon is not able, for lack of desks, to give instructions in penmanship, but the work is done in the best possible manner.

She is in close touch with the history classes and the works of the little folks. The real test of teaching is the ability to interest and advance beginners. The general tone of the school is good, and the school a success in all its efforts.

Attendance, no. 28, 548.

A tax has been voted to build a new school house here, but the patrons can not agree upon a location, which nor the agree to spend $1,000 to $1,500 a house between the two sections. I came away with an impression that this might be a repetition of the quaint old story of the man who was granted the undeniably privilege of closing the tree door when he had his wife's key, and forced to force his key in his wife's guard, but could never find a tree suited to his purpose. I trust, however, that the future will prove this to have been only a dream. —L. W. GALBRAITH.

Polly's Remark.

A year or two ago the family found it necessary to take boarders. Two large rooms were advertised to let, and among the callers was an elderly gentleman who seemed much pleased in inquiring as to the terms he had to pay.

"Twelve dollars for two?" he asked.

"Certainly not," said the mistress of the house. "Twelve dollars each. You don't suppose rooms the size of these could be had for less?"

"I don't know," said the parrot ejaculated viciously: "Well, you are an old fool!"

"Madame," said the visitor, as he tightened his grip on his walking stick, "those bird that know what it is talking about?"

"I think it does," she quietly answered.
